

ROANOKE, VIRGINIA,

The Commercial and Industrial Center of the Mineral Belt of Southwest Virginia and Southern West Virginia.

THE MAGIC CITY OF THE NEW SOUTH.

Population in 1881	-	-	-	-	-	600
Population in 1891	-	-	-	-	-	22,500
Assessed values in 1881	-	-	-	-	-	$150,000
Assessed values in 1891	-	-	-	-	-	$9,000,000
Manufacturing industries in 1881	-	-	-	-	-	0
Manufacturing industries in 1891	-	-	-	-	-	$17,000,000

In close proximity to inexhaustible deposits of coal, iron ore and limestone; surrounded by agricultural lands of unsurpassed fertility; populated by progressive people from various parts of the North and the South, Roanoke's inevitable destiny will make it a city of 75,000 to 100,000 people in the next ten years.

To people desiring to better their material condition; to capital and men of small means and skilled labor; to manufacturers desiring more ground room and superior facilities, no place offers better inducements.

COME TO ROANOKE.

And come now if you wish to share in the city's prosperous growth.